Communities and Place

With a focus on regeneration, creativity, inclusion and wellbeing, 12 key projects were funded with investment of c.£5.3 million.

Projects were focused on key areas of need and played a significant role in revitalising community spaces and reducing anti-social behaviour. The investment has played a vital role in strengthening Sunderland's cultural and creative landscape, while infrastructure and property projects have enhanced organisational resilience and expanded the range of services available to residents. Here are some examples of the projects that have been supported.

Sunderland North Youth and Community Choices

Sunderland North Youth and Community Choices - Sunderland Community Action Group

This collaborative youth project, centred in the north area of the city, brought together Sunderland Community Action Group, Southwick Neighbourhood Youth Project, Northeast Sports and Community Opportunities to share resources, facilities, and best practice to strengthen the youth work sector and improve outcomes for young people aged 11–25, particularly those from disadvantaged communities.

The project, which supported over 1,000 young people and 31 new young leaders and volunteers has also upskilled the youth work workforce and has led to young peoples' increased self-awareness, reflection and self-determination, improved their life chances and wellbeing and increased the positive contribution of young people to their community and society.

“The youth drop-in sessions have enabled young people to shape the provision with activities and issue-based learning that suits their needs”. “We’ve supported young people who didn’t achieve academically to thrive in roles like sports leadership—giving them a platform for growth and recognition”.

The Pavilion - Pallion Action Group

The Pavilion project transformed a previously underused and deteriorating facility into a vibrant community hub. With UKSPF support, the site in Pallion was refurbished to host a range of services including youth activities, employment support and wellbeing programmes.

The Pavilion now serves as a safe, inclusive space that fosters community cohesion and provides vital support to residents of all ages.

“It [the UKSPF project] has made a massive difference to the area... including reducing anti-social behaviour. This project had a major ripple effect... engaged the local community including local children... gone on to gain 5 years revenue funding, created 4 jobs and provided numerous services to the community... a previously unemployed resident has started up a café in the premises.”

The project has supported residents to save energy and money, as well as signposting and referring residents to benefit from other projects such as Links for Life and Community Digital Hubs.

"Feedback from residents has been very positive... Pop-up events at local venues worked well as a great tool to engage new beneficiaries... Range of resources available to support residents through the cost-of-living... Wrap around support the organisation provides has had a massive impact and lots of the beneficiaries came in for support and were then signposted into community activities... (It is important to be) accessible at times of need before a resident hits crisis (and) having skilled staff, approachable, knowledgeable and (who) have time to support residents."

"The project all round has made a massive difference to my life and my mental health and wellbeing, it's been amazing". "I got help to pay bills online so not paying a charge for paper anymore". "It's been very helpful. I got support with my electricity supply, lightbulbs, got meters changed, received a lot of other support and made new friends". "I was paying a fortune for broadband... they also helped sort my mobile so all in all saving me about £60 a month"

And they’ve now got a fantastic career opportunity as they move forward.”
